About Denver

Nicknamed the Mile-High City, Denver is located at 5,280 feet (1,609 meters) above sea level at the foot of the Rocky Mountains. The metro area is home to 13 major shopping centers, eight professional sports teams, 15 colleges and universities and the second-largest performing arts complex in the nation. The city is known for its friendly residents, educated workforce, laid-back atmosphere and active lifestyle.

Denver has a pleasant climate with low humidity and more annual days of sunshine than San Diego or Miami. You will see people running, biking, hiking, golfing and playing tennis year-round, and Denver is often voted one of the fittest cities in the US. But even more famous than what's inside the city is what's just outside it. Denver is the gateway to a variety of mountain activities, including skiing, rafting, biking and hiking, among others.

About LCI Denver

Our language center in Denver is conveniently located in a residential neighborhood with access to I-25, one of the main highways through Denver. The school has 15 classrooms, a computer room, a student lounge and an outdoor patio with tables and umbrellas.

Within easy walking distance of the building are bus and light rail lines, which can take you downtown and to connections all over the city. LCI is located just four blocks from Colorado Blvd., a major street offering many international and American restaurants, movie theaters, grocery stores, clothing shops and more.
