Executive English Program

LCI’s experienced staff works closely with our executive students to make sure they achieve their English training goals. With over 15 years of experience in training executives from across the globe, our individualized language programs consistently deliver outstanding results.

Customized Courses

LCI lessons cover business language needs including giving presentations and writing professional emails and reports. We work with H.R. departments to perform needs assessments prior to commencing the language program, as well as to customize content to meet specific requirements and goals. Each program can also include sessions on culture and customs.

Flexible Schedule

LCI English classes can be held at LCI’s facilities or at our client’s office or home. Class hours are flexible to accommodate the client’s schedule.
